The offices for the sick and dying are the forgotten child of the Book of Common Prayer. The rubric has not been updated since 1549, but much has changed since then. People go to hospitals and nursing homes instead of taking to their bed. With longer life spans and modern medicine, people are living longer and often experience more and longer hospitalizations. Visitation of the Sick has been shortened to reflect use in a hospital or nursing home instead of at home. The Reserved Sacrament is usually preferable when ministering to the sick. The Communion Service is intended for use by chaplains and parish clergy during visits to hospitals, nursing homes, and assisted living facilities. It could also be used outside of chaplaincy. Chaplains have found that many of those who are dying like to have the Psalms read to them, so the Psalter has been included from the 1928 BCP (except for Psalm 23, which is KJV).

In "Tending the Flock of God," Fr. Garabed Kochakian draws on his five decades as a priest of the Armenian Apostolic Church to systematically address the vital components of pastoral ministry. New pastors and experienced ones will be rewarded by his insights. At the heart of the book is the author's love for Jesus Christ, reminding readers that Christian ministry is ultimately about relationships.

"The Wiccan Minister's Manual, A Guide For Priests and Priestesses, " was inspired as a training aid for those who would like to become Wiccan Ministers, as well as an aid for Wiccan/Pagan Priests and Priestesses. The Craft is evolving, becoming more and more accepted by society, and there is beginning to be a definite distinction between Wiccan Laity and Wiccan Clergy. Part One - Guidance - Making the spiritual connection to personal deity through love, prayer, meditation, ritual, and myth and how to guide others to create their own personal connections. Part Two - Wiccan religious philosophy and guidance - How to live a spiritual life in the modern world. Part Three - various methods of healing mind, body and spirit - Including some legal pit-falls to avoid, plus chapter eleven presents an extensive discourse on Pastoral Counseling. Part Four deals with psychic self-defense and rituals of protection. Including House Clearings, Banishings, and Exorcism. Additionally, the author explains what to look for and what to look out for while determining if an exorcism is really needed or if the client is suffering from psychosis and is in need of a professional therapist. Part Five focuses upon the spiritual support roles. It covers, dealing with death and dying, Funerals, Prison Ministry, Legal requirements of doing Handfastings in all 50 states, plus a discourse on whether or not to incorporate. This work begins to fill yet another gap in this area of the Wiccan religious structure as it brings back much of the older knowledge and philosophy that seems to be waning from the collective Wiccan memory. Reviewed by Edain McCoy; "Kevin, I received my copy of "Wiccan Minister's Manual Its terrific! You cover everything... Personally, I think you did a great job at making your book useful to all trads."

This work is designed for the Holy Week of the 1962 Missal as promulgated by Pope Pius XII in 1955. In the Instruction that accompanied the decree for the restored Holy Week Ordo the first point set forth reads: "Local Ordinaries should carefully see to it that priests, especially those who have the care of souls, should be well instructed not only about the ritual observance of the restored Ordo of Holy Week but also its liturgical meaning and its pastoral purposes." The ceremonies of Holy Week are perhaps the most beautiful, yet the most difficult of the liturgical year. Their beauty lies in the deep richness of their meaning and in their power to bring us so close to our Divine Saviour and the events that transpired in the last days of His mortal life. Unless these ceremonies are carried out with precision and accuracy, their wealth of beauty and meaning are lost. To bring the sacred events commemorated in Holy Week home to the faithful so that they may participate in them more fruitfully, we have undertaken this manual. If Holy Week ceremonies are difficult for priestly minds to grasp quickly, how much more so for the laity. To make this task a little easier for fellow priests during those days when pastoral duties are numerous and varied, has been our objective in setting forth these ceremonies according to the new regulations decreed by Pope Pius XII. If carried out correctly, these ceremonies have a deep beauty which all will learn to love and appreciate. But we priests must first study them and present them as correctly as possible. The effort on our part will be amply rewarded. We have tried to keep in mind all churches, large and small, churches where the ceremonies can be conducted in a solemn manner, where only a missa cantata is possible, and finally where there is no choir present. The anxiety of our brother priests for this type of book has been keen. We have worked under pressure; time was of the essence and so we beg your kind indulgence for possible errors and omissions. Our great objective was to present in as short a time as possible a complete working manual for the Holy Week services of 1956.

Empowerment for Ministry is a must-have reference book that provides a comprehensive treatment of diocesan faculties for priests, deacons, and lay ministers. It develops a coherent theory of the juridical nature and the delegation of faculties; identifies and organizes the pertinent rules of canon law and the canonical tradition on the grant, supply, use, and cessation of diocesan faculties; and offers model faculties and commentaries on them for clergy, lay ministers, and chancery officials. Part I, Canonical Theory and Rules, presents a comprehensive treatment of diocesan faculties and all the canonical rules applicable to them. Part II, Model Faculties and Commentaries, offers lists of faculties and commentaries on them. Audience: --diocesan leadership and those who advise them in the preparation and updating of diocesan faculties --canonists and students of canon law --priests, deacons, and lay ministers who have faculties by law and/or delegation --those preparing for ecclesial ministries--seminarians, deacon candidates, and lay ministers in formation
