A delightful book of curious, little-known "facts" about animals--one for each letter of the alphabet! Did you know that chipmunks love to stay up past their bedtime? Or that dragons cry at happy endings? I bet you'd never have guessed that iguanas sometimes get homesick at sleepovers. Sara O'Leary pulls back the curtain on the animal world and gives us an absolutely charming little one-line "fact" about one animal for each letter of the alphabet. Kids will love to see their own quirks reflected in these adorably rendered creatures, and perhaps will be comforted to know that--just like them--narwhals can be perfectly happy all on their own and quail also get tired of being told to be quiet. This is more than just an alphabet book. It's a charming, hilarious, and touching look at the diversity of personalities in the world--worth many, many rereads.

All the animals were afraid of Annie Alligator who ate anything or anyone who ambled along her alley. All the animals agree on one way to appease Annie's appetite. First of a series of ABC alliterative stories, Annie Alligator emphasizes each letter "a" or "A" with a bold font. Children as well as ESL (English as a second language) students will enjoy the fun story while learning the many uses of the letter "A" and finding the hidden letter in each picture.

Alligator opened his mouth and made a great big yawn, shook his head and slowly crawled from his damp musky hole. The warm sun rays beamed on his ridged back and immediately Alligator felt a sense of excitement and a feeling of enthusiasm. He was not sure what to expect, since he has been hidden in the shady hole for such a long time. Ant was terrified of the sight of Alligator standing in the path and appearing as if from nowhere. "Juicy! Delicious! Soft!" Alligator kept saying as he gobbled a bunch at once...----- The Author is an Early Childhood Educator caring for children in her field. Her love for children and storytelling has led her to writing books that connects children to understanding their emotions, feelings, desires and how to express themselves. Understanding these big emotions are often challenging to communicate. Her books create circumstances that help to identify these characteristics and show how to communicate with others effectively. Her desire is to help children connect with feelings and emotions and offer guidance to express these connectors in an effective way as they find their purpose in life.

This is an animal alphabet book that does not teach the alphabet in isolation but gives the child the opportunity to learn to read. This book is intentional in preparing the kindergarten child for the first grade. The focus is on learning the alphabet, building vocabulary, and reading skills. The beginning kindergarten child's focus is on learning the alphabet, but by the end of the second nine weeks of school, children will be doing much more than the alphabet. They will be reading sight words and CVC words. CVC words are three-letter words, such as run, man, top. The goal of this book is to make learning to read fun for the young child.

Aunt Alice Alligator and her family of animal friends enjoy alphabetical adventures with alliterations that will make children and adults of all ages laugh out loud. This alphabet picture book is illustrated with the finely detailed, colorful artwork of Hal Marcus.
