

Cambridge A Level Psychology Revision Guide

"This book has been written as a companion to support you throughout your Cambridge International Examinations Psychology AS and A Level (9990 syllabus). The book is divided into two parts: one for the AS Level and one for the A level. The part for the AS Level will guide you through all of the 12 core studies and all of the research methods, issues, debates and evaluations. The part for the A Level will guide you through the two options you have chosen to study (from the four available). There are a range of activities throughout the book to get you thinking psychologically, which are ideal preparation for the examinations."--Page iii.

Revision Guide to support students of Cambridge O Level Biology through their course and help them to prepare for assessment. This book is a comprehensive survey of our scientific knowledge about human intelligence, written by a researcher who has spent more than 30 years studying the field, receiving a Lifetime Contribution award from the International Society for Intelligence. Human Intelligence takes a non-ideological view of a topic in which, too often, writings are dominated by a single theory or social viewpoint. The book discusses the conceptual status of intelligence as a collection of cognitive skills that include, but also go beyond, those skills evaluated by conventional tests; intelligence tests and their analysis; contemporary theories of intelligence; biological and social causes of intelligence; the importance of intelligence in social, industrial, and educational spheres; the role of intelligence in determining success in life, both inside and outside educational settings; and the nature and causes of variations in intelligence across age, gender, and racial and ethnic groups.
