HUMANIQUENESS is a thought provoking response to contemporary scientific theories that claim to have found the missing link between humans and aquatic species that lived billions of years ago. Glauco Ortolano writes an inspirational book linking humans to a more divine heritage instead. From a poem written by Vicente Huidobro, an early 20th Century Chilean poet, Ortolano builds a fascinating paradigm to enlighten the reader on how we became the only species to have been endowed with the gift of both oral and written languages. "We are small gods, not evolved fish" affirms Ortolano. "Humaniqueness" is a must read to anyone interested in gaining a deeper understanding of what it means to be human and semi-divine. It will bring you into full realization of our unique faculties, gifts, and destiny as a species.

Fresh out of college in the summer of 1961, Happy lands his first job as a graphic designer (okay, art assistant) at a small Connecticut advertising agency populated by a cast of endearing eccentrics. Life for Happy seems to be -- well, happy. But when he's assigned to design a newspaper ad recruiting participants for an experiment in the Yale Psychology Department, Happy can't resist responding to the ad himself. Little does he know that the experience will devastate him, forcing a reexamination of his past, his soul, and the nature of human cruelty -- chiefly, his own. Written in sharp, witty prose and peppered with absorbing ruminations on graphic design, The Learners again shows that Chip Kidd's writing is every bit as original, stunning, and memorable as his celebrated book jackets.
