Inti Mach'ay and the Royal Feast of the Sun. Cusco Region, Urubamba Province, Machupicchu District. Above the Sacred Valley. December 21, 1572 The high priest stood waiting for the sun to rise at the Intihuatana stone. The Inca believed the stone captured and held the sun in place along its daily trek across the sky. As a calendar, the stone aligns with the sun's position during the winter solstice. At midday on November 11, and again on January 30, the sun shines directly upon the pillar, casting no shadow at all. The hand-carved base, however, reflects the contour of the Inca Empire. An empire far more significant than anyone knew, an empire currently under assault. The priest retrieved the set of ceremonial daggers made from bismuth bronze from the tomb. The knives, created in the fifteenth century, are the earliest known artifacts containing this alloy. They were said to be a gift from the gente pequeña, the little people. He would not leave them for the hairy conquerors to find. They stank and had no honor. Twenty-million MesoAmericans disappeared. Ninety-five percent of the Olmec, Mayan, Aztec, and Inca populations just went on a walkabout one morning and disappeared. It was not war or disease, for there were no bodies. The Compassionist's Agenda. Three days ago... A week ago, my life changed. A gathering of dreams came home. I was tired, exhausted, accidentally drugged from caring for a friend when the illusions crawled from the darkness onto my deck. They woke something from childhood; memories and dreams belonging to someone else. Familiar, somehow, but not mine. Something in them haunted me for a week. But, as it does, life returned to normal; until this morning. Two of the little ones came back; popped into existence along the shoreline. The Imaginary Resolution Services® were tracking the dreams that visited. They had all disappeared after revealing themselves, no traces anywhere. The only reason 'Homefry' and 'Pooh' came to Hawaii was to question my friend, the one who started all this in the first place. It seems Leonardo Garfield is the only Grumpmuffin available now. The IRS was hoping to backtrack our visitors from his signature. It turns out that cats are walkers. Their purrs allow them a sympathetic resonance that vibrates the veils open between realities. The tiny Twelyth Teg, the fairies, use the movement of their wings to the same end. The rest of us have to plod along the ley lines, the bismuth veins that crisscross the planet. Be that as it may, I am going along, too. What I thought was a one-off experience goes much deeper. Children encounter magic because they look for it. It snuck up on me. I didn't find my childhood dreams again, only to lose them now. If you know anything about me, it should be that I keep a promise. I don't make many, but the ones I do get delivered. Homefry and Pooh, along with me and thee, are going to find our friends and bring them home. Despite the odds, I will do what I usually do and follow my heart. But first, we need to locate a few things lost in time, miracles. We're going to need them.

In spring 1962, a young black girl is killed at a civil rights demonstration on a university campus in Atlanta. The next day a home in Georgia is burned. Both events are etched into the memory of Cole Bishop, eerily playing out the predictions of a former classmate named Marie Fitzpatrick. Cole and Marie are high school seniors when they first meet in fall 1954. He is a native-born Southerner accepting the traditions of segregation as a way of life. Marie is a recent transplant from Washington, DC, a brilliant and assertive nonconformist with bold predictions about a new world that is about to be ushered in by desegregation. The story revolves around the fiftieth reunion of the Overton High School class of 1955. The Book of Marie is the story of a generation 'whites and blacks' who ignited the war of change. Yet, it is also as much about the power of place 'the finding of home' as it is about the history of events. The collection of poems. When you read the poem, "There Is", which is about lost love, to "Solitary Soldier", which describe one's life. The poem, "Dark Shadow", which is reaches in the dark part, of one's mind. "Living Without You", to a love that was lost. She was just a child when she was washed ashore on the exotic island of Akora, shipwrecked and orphaned. Though embraced by Akora's elite, she longs to know her true identity--and the truth about her haunting fear that she is to blame for her parents' fate. But while the answers lure her to far-off England, a fiery passion she never knew existed may bind her to Akora forever. Handsome and headstrong, Atreus is a powerful warrior whose clan has ruled Akora for centuries. A secret ritual has made him the chosen ruler of his people--and revealed to him a vision of the lovely Brianna as the woman he is meant to marry. Fearing she will never return from her journey, Atreus sets sail to win her. But a treacherous enemy looms, and it will soon fall to the brave couple to unite their hearts and share even their darkest secrets to save not only their burgeoning love--but their very homeland.

There is a lesson, a treasure, a jewel, and an opportunity for growth in everything we go through. Even in the bad things that happens to us, there are what I call "jewels" or "hidden treasures." Yes, in the most horrible experiences in life, hidden treasures! But who can find them? How do we discover them when all we can see is the hurt and pain of the trials and tribulations we have faced? By reminding ourselves that we are the apple of God's eyes and everything that was meant to harm us, God will turn it around for our good. He will give us "the treasures of darkness and hidden riches of secret places, that we may know that the Lord, called us by name!" We are a marvelous work, a holy people, set apart, predestined, made in the image of, created by, loved by God. But oftentimes, that is not how we view ourselves! We have spent too many years wandering in the wilderness of shame, defeat, heartache, and pain. It is time to come out and unearth all the treasures that the enemy has stolen from you.

Disillusioned by British politics and colonialism, Gavin, the eldest son of the earl of Hawkforte, does not want to succeed his father but instead is drawn to the kingdom of Akora, where he falls in love with the beautiful Elena, a young woman destined to become the wife of the future ruler of Akora. This book is the first of the 'Grim' trilogy of short stories, written by Aruja King. Each story showcases different scenarios encountered by single women. Some are surreal, some fantasy, some gritty and real and some just downright absurd. The writer uses fast witty dialogue and black humour to illustrate events. Many of the stories have a twist in the ending. The show starts with AL, a story about a woman's encounter with an alien sent to earth from his home planet to do research on earth women, with hilarious results. The Writers' Circle deals with the awkwardness of a cougar conducting a relationship with a much younger man. Grey Areas deals with forbidden love in an era of segregation. In the rest of the stories you will encounter swinger's parties, blind dates, infidelity, psychopaths and unrequited love, all told in the author's unique tongue-in-cheek style. This book will have something that all women of all ages will be able to relate to. In Stop Sabotaging Your Life: 3 Steps To Your Full Potential, acclaimed life coach Bruno LoGreco shares his simple path to achieving healthy mental and emotional independence. How many times have you caught yourself thinking something like this?: I'm not enough—good enough...smart enough...good looking enough...successful enough.... LoGreco says we sabotage our lives by focusing too much on being what others want us to be and do, and not spending enough time listening to our own hearts and minds. Some people try to find self-acceptance and contentment through counseling, but end up trapped on the therapy treadmill. Others try to go it alone, but still end up in a tiresome process of navel-gazing that never leads to personal fulfillment. LoGreco offers a three-step plan to help you reach your own potential: self-awareness (recognize what you have been doing, and why); rebuilding values (learn a different way to do things); and reach your full potential (identify opportunities and set meaningful goals). You will learn to leverage your strengths to stop chasing illusions and work toward achieving your dreams. LoGreco doesn't claim his book will cure everything that ails you. As he says, "There is no secret formula, no magic pill that will make you happy, productive, and successful. You must challenge your beliefs and take back control of your choices. Don't just think outside the box—break out of it altogether." What clients and readers are saying about life coach, mentor, and motivational speaker Bruno LoGreco: "As a divorced mother of three, I've encountered many obstacles, mostly personal ones within myself. I wondered why I kept repeating the same patterns with the men I was dating and why it always ended badly, usually with me being hurt, and questioned what 'I' was doing wrong. Bruno taught me how to love myself again, how to respect myself and above all else, BELIEVE in myself.... Bruno saved me from my self-destructive patterns. Without his help, I wouldn't be the confident woman I am today. I am a better mother for that." — Cristina "The world is filled with very successful executives who for decades focus every waking minute on professional accolades and professional development [only to] realize they haven't take the time out to focus on personal development in terms of a better balance in life, being in touch with their spiritual side and inner self, and even the fun side of life. That would describe me in the past.... I came across Bruno, and I knew he was the man. His personality exudes authenticity and geniality. The man simply knows his stuff, has this uncanny ability to read between the lines, and zero in instantly on underlying triggers. His structured approach steers you to address issues head on; challenges you to challenge yourself; opens your mind; helps you understand behaviors, experiences and patterns; gets you in touch with yourself; fuels a sense of purpose and passion; and escorts you to chart a new course to life. He never judges, but relentlessly encourages and empowers you. He's truly a brilliant, genuine and a humane person with an infectious enthusiasm to make you seize your inborn potential.” —Adrian “If I had to sum up my experience with Bruno in one word, it would be 'awakened.' Bruno helped me see life from a different perspective, which is what I needed, but most importantly, he showed me how to do that myself without being dependent on him.... Bruno got me to step outside of my comfort zone and do things I normally wouldn't have done otherwise, which is undoubtedly the key to growth.” —Blaine Sy Middleton, a teenager living in Manhattan, enters a secret world when he is initiated into Earth-tribe and becomes a Triber. DON'T JUST FOLLOW YOUR DREAMS. FOLLOW THE GOD OF YOUR DREAMS. I am indeed giving you double for your trouble. I will put in your hands as much as you can believe Me for. How much can you believe Me for? Dream Again. Dream big dreams. Dream wild dreams. Dream with Me, and I will dream with you.

Don't waste time living a mundane and unfulfilled life; watching life go by without taking the initiative to fulfill your dreams and not believing in your own potential. Life is short, we have to cram everything in before we leave to go on to the next world. Throughout my life, one question has repeatedly been asked of me no matter where I was or what I was doing. People have asked me over and over again, "How in the world do you do it?" 'How do you as a single mom run a business, take care of a house, haul the kids to baseball and soccer, etc.?' 'How do you pick up everything you own, move to a place where you know absolutely no one and start a brand new life?' 'How do you find the confidence to redesign your life and follow your dreams?' 'How in the world do you do it?' Well, to all of you who have asked me these questions over the years, here it is. I have finally written the instruction manual. This book includes several popular and well-known insights to life. Many of you will probably recognize them. However, what this book also includes are many things you have not heard before - things that I have developed over years of life experience. I only wish I had this book to follow when I started on this journey. Luckily, it is never too late. It is my desire to inspire all of you to follow your life's dreams by following the Blueprint I have laid out for you in this book. Following the Blueprint, you should be able to accomplish anything your heart desires. It is important to take the time to do the exercises so you can completely enjoy the fulfillment of your potential. As you read further into the book you will understand why. We will discuss successes and failures and what to do when we have fallen into a "hole." Life is not perfect and neither are we. However, by following the Blueprint and reading and implementing the teachings and concepts in this book, you will have the confidence and ability to turn things around and take a "Do-Over" at will. Everything you need is here; the rest is up to you. There are no coincidences in life. You are where you are, facing what you're facing, and doing what you're doing because life is preparing you for future greatness. Don't deny yourself -or the world- the opportunity to be everything you were created to be. No one can be 100 percent all of the time. Keep this book and your notes as a handy reference. Use it as an instruction manual for your life. If you are not at the top of your game or you feel like you are falling into "the hole" refer back to whatever information in this book that may inspire you. Study your Blueprint. Go back to your Accomplishments list so you can see written proof of what you have achieved so far. On days when you feel stupid for making the same mistakes again, go back to your Self Improvement list to prove to yourself that you have learned from the past; sometimes it just takes more than one time around. The intention of this book is not just to read it once but to be able to go back and use the information as often as possible. Life is complicated and most things you cannot learn the first time around. Sometimes you have to repeat the class, or in this case, just repeat the book or the part of the book that will you will find helpful. This book is a combination of innovative new concepts along with tried-and-true messages and beliefs that have been used for years. It is the best of both worlds. In combination with each other, the intent of this book is to inspire you to get moving and fulfill your dreams. Share it with others so they can fulfill their dreams too. We were created to fulfill great plans, and dream big dreams. Most importantly, we have the ability to bring our dreams and visions to life and to inspire and encourage others to do the same. Each of us is limited only by the belief we have in ourselves. Open your mind then go forth and dare to dream, and dare to do.

Jack Henry Markowitz, born and raised in Brooklyn, New York, grew up in a magical time when Coney Island was still thought of as the entertainment capital of the world – a time when the Brooklyn Dodgers still played at Ebbets Field and millions of people came to visit the fabled beaches and boardwalk, Steeplechase Park, Parachute Jump, Cyclone Roller Coaster and Nathan's Famous. In his novella Stuff Happens Markowitz combines elements of fiction and non fiction in a new form he calls "friction" - a combination of the fictitious with the real. In The Practice and Other Stories he writes short stories with satiric wit and Jewish humor about working class New York characters he had observed during his growing-up years. Greatly influenced by the movies, he often turns a satiric camera eye on the details of every day life. With the publication of Bubbie and Zadie Save the Day Markowitz retells a Romanian folk tale that his mother often told to him and his siblings as a rather unusual bed time story. With the publication of Please Ask, Do Tell – The Collected Poems the author presents a collection of his favorite poems that were written over a span of 40 years.
