Analyzing people at first glance is natural. We all do it and there is no point in denying it. Through instinct and experience some people are better in this process than others. This is also undeniable. However, science and research has made it possible to learn a few ways to make sure that the analysis we make of the people that we meet for the first time is not based only on instinct and experience but also on undeniable scientific facts. "How to Analyze People" has the purpose of presenting those ways to the general public, to explain them and to point out the necessity of incorporating them into our way of sizing up people and drawing our conclusions about them. Many texts speak only about the ways of observing the eyes. Other texts refer to the body language or "non-verbal communication" as it has become to be known. A few more texts refer to how the pitch and intonation of a voice carries out the messages. These are all gathered up in one text so that the total sum of the observations that need to be made in order to make our analysis as correct as possible and draw a correct conclusion out of it, is brought to common knowledge in the hopes of avoiding misunderstandings and unnecessary emotional outbreaks that may lead to unfortunate and regrettable actions. Actions that are unbecoming to a modern and peaceful society. Download Your Copy Now! Click the Buy Now button on the top of the page

How to Analyze People on Sight or How to Analyze People on Sight Through the Science of Human Analysis The Five Human Types is a 1921 book by Elsie Lincoln Benedict. What Newspapers Have Said About Elsie Benedict and Her Work "Over fifty thousand people heard Elsie Lincoln Benedict at the City Auditorium during her six weeks lecture engagement in Milwaukee." -Milwaukee Leader, April 2, 1921 . "Elsie Lincoln Benedict has a brilliant record. She is like a fresh breath of Colorado ozone. Her ideas are as stimulating as the health-giving breezes of the Rockies." -New York Evening Mail, April 16, 1914. "Several hundred people were turned away from the Masonic Temple last night where Elsie Lincoln Benedict, famous human analyst, spoke on 'How to Analyze People on Sight.' Asked how she could draw and hold a crowd of 3,000 for a lecture, she said: 'Because I talk on the one subject on earth in which every individual is most interested-himself.'" -Seattle Times, June 2, 1920. "Elsie Lincoln Benedict is a woman who has studied deeply under genuine scientists and is demonstrating to thousands at the Auditorium each evening that she knows the connection between an individual's external characteristics and his inner traits." -Minneapolis News, November 7, 1920. "Elsie Lincoln Benedict is known nationally, having conducted lecture courses in many of the large Eastern cities. Her work is based upon the practical methods of modern science as worked out in the world's leading laboratories where exhaustive tests are applied to determine individual types, talents, vocational bents and possibilities." -San Francisco Bulletin, January 25, 1919.

Do you want to know how to analyze people and to best interpret what their behaviors mean? If yes, then keep reading... People aren't as mysterious as we tend to think they are. We may wonder at some of the things they do and ask ourselves why we didn't see certain people coming. We may ask how a seemingly decent person can be something entirely different underneath that pleasant, normal veneer. But when we know who we're talking to, we're much better equipped to interpret the behavior of those around us more accurately and to be less surprised when people turn out to be someone else than who they lead us to believe they are. It is important to understand that there is a difference between reading and analyzing someone in your presence and telepathy. Many people confuse the two. Science fiction fans are more than conversant with the concept of telepathy. You are thousands of miles away, yet somehow, just when you are thinking about someone, they call you. This is a different story altogether. Analyzing someone is about being in their presence. You must be aware of their role at the moment and yours to accurately analyze them. How many people can do this? Not so many. If you consider the level of training that the FBI and other specialized security departments go through to enable their operatives to learn how to read their targets and suspects, it is safe to say that not so many people can read and analyze someone instantly. This book is a stepping stone on the path to gaining a better understanding of human nature. I hope you'll build on it, by applying what you learn in your everyday life, using it to more effectively your interactions with others, in order to be more successful in your relationships, your work and your social life. Dark Psychology - can be seen as the study of the human condition, in relation to the psychological nature of the many different types of people who prey on others. The concept of prey does not always mean that an individual is harmed, but a branch of dark psychology is entirely devoted to this. ? How to Analyze People -The non-verbal component constitutes over 65% of overall communication. It is an indispensable skill in any situation or social class. As you have probably already experienced in life the risk of misinterpreting the body language of others, or of sending incorrect and incongruent messages, is very high and can cause a lot of misunderstanding. Unlike other books, this manual offers a practical and profound knowledge of non-verbal communication with a modern approach, free from the mania of wanting to 'scam' others and interpret everything simplistically. ? Psychological warfare - has existed since the beginning of time. Ancient documents such as The Art of War by Sun Tzu or historical people such as Alexander the Great, Genghis Khan and Niccolò Machiavelli are examples of people who understood the timelessness of military and psychological strategies. With the progress of time, up to the present day, the art of war has become increasingly subtle and difficult to identify. Like it or not, there will always be people out there who will try to hurt you or try to use you for their own pleasure or benefit. Reading people quickly, deciphering body language, detecting lies and understanding human nature is the best gift you can give yourself in order to improve any area of your life.
