La Maison sur mesure Jacques Tournus, 1963

Jean Prouvé / Cinq maisons sur mesure Vincent Bertaud du Chazaud, Manuel Bougot, 2020-09-16 C'est à la fin de la Seconde Guerre mondiale que Jean Prouvé s'intéresse à la maison, avec Pierre Jeanneret. Ils conçoivent et fabriquent alors des maisons légères ; puis, dans les années 50, le ministère de la Reconstruction lui commande douze maisons industrialisées, qui seront montées à Meudon ; mais cette commande restera sans suite. Ce sont les maisons les plus connues. Mais il en a fait d'autres... Maisons à portique, à noyau central, à charpente réticulée et panneaux sandwich, à coques..., cet ouvrage offre un regard nouveau sur des maisons « sur mesure », que Jean Prouvé a imaginé en profitant de ses recherches portant sur l'industrialisation du bâtiment. Illustré de documents d'archives, parfois personnels, souvent inédits, et enrichi par plus de 200 photographies en couleurs, cet ouvrage nous invite à une véritable promenade architecturale pour découvrir ou redécouvrir toute l'inventivité de Jean Prouvé, autour de 5 maisons « rationnelles », « vivantes », « composées d'éléments standardisés ».

Problems and Prospects in European Education Francois Orivel, Jürgen Schriewer, Elizabeth S. Swing, 2000-06-30 Written by scholars and professionals from such organizations as the Council of Europe and the European Community, this volume provides a comprehensive examination of education throughout Europe. The particularities of national educational systems are of necessity within its purview, but overall organization of the volume reflects such thematic and regional concerns as the impact of social and economic integration on education, the modification of educational structures and curricula following the demise of communism in Eastern Europe, degree equivalency, the financing of educational change, privatization, the impact of migration and immigration, national concerns, intercultural education, and multiculturalism. The volume's experts discuss European education's common heritage and the distinct national traditions it preserves. They deal with the interpretations of European education systems put forward in the shape of educational theories or reform-oriented programs, policies, and ideologies, as well as with the social actors, forces, and movements that have fuelled reform. The book's chapters also address the challenges European education has to face as a consequence of processes of change occurring at multiple levels: at the levels of cultural values, socio-political reconstruction, intercultural migration, supra-national integration, and ongoing global interconnection.

A Concordance to the French Poetry and Prose of John Gower R. F. Yeager, Mark West, Robin L. Hinson, 2012-01-01 That the poet John Gower was a major literary figure in England at the close of the fourteenth century is no longer in question. Scholarly attention paid to him and to his work over the past twenty-five years has redeemed him from an undeserved obscurity imposed by the preceding two hundred. The facts of his life and career are now documented, and recent critical assessment has placed his achievement most accurately alongside Chaucer's, Langland's, and the Gawain-poet's. Unique among his contemporaries, all of whom undoubtedly read and used French in some measure, Gower alone has left us a significant body of verse and prose in Anglo-Norman; chiefly, the twelve-stanza poem Mirour de l'Omme, the Cinkante Balades, and the Traitié pour les amantz marietz. We are offered in this concordance of his Anglo-Norman work a unique opportunity to view a poetic language as it was written and read in England until Gower's death in 1408 and beyond.

Dispatches, Correspondence and Memoranda of Field Marshal Arthur Duc of Wellington, K.G. Arthur Wellesley Duke of Wellington, 1863

History as a Kind of Writing Philippe Carrard, 2017-03-07 In academia, the traditional role of the humanities is being questioned by the “posts”—postmodernism, poststructuralism, and postfeminism—which means that the project of writing history only grows more complex. In History as a Kind of Writing, scholar of French literature and culture Philippe Carrard speaks to this complexity by focusing the lens on the current state of French historiography. Carrard's work here is expansive—examining the conventions historians draw on to produce their texts and casting light on views put forward by literary theorists, theorists of history, and historians themselves. Ranging from discussions of lengthy dissertations on 1960s social and economic history to a more contemporary focus on events, actors, memory, and culture, the book digs deep into the how of history. How do historians arrange their data into narratives? What strategies do they employ to justify the validity of their descriptions? Are actors given their own voice? Along the way, Carrard also readdresses questions fundamental to the field, including its necessary membership in the narrative genre, the presumed objectivity of historiographic writing, and the place of history as a science, distinct from the natural and theoretical sciences.
