This book represents one of the outcomes of the World Complexity Science Academy (WCSA) Conference held in Rome in the Autumn of 2018, titled "Turbulent Convergence". It reflects the fruitful discussions developed by a number of papers presented at the event by scholars from several different countries. In particular, the volume represents a great effort on the part of the WCSA to gather research carried out in Europe and beyond and to provide a forum for valuable discussion at international level in a cosmopolitan way.

Foreword Amalia is a heroin, a mother and a wife: she retraces the events of her family through three generations. She welcomes their inheritance in a hard struggle to survive between a Country's rural age at its sunset and a working-class Milan in which the war is perceived by apocalyptic aerial bombardments and alarm sirens. Of the war she talks about the anxiety and the horror: she faces losses and mourning with an aching and courageous heart, with the determination to build a future for her and her little daughter and with the certainty of the return of her never forgotten hero, Commander Guido. He, in the meanwhile, is engaged with his patrol in an epic crossing of the Sahara desert through Libya, Tunisia and Algeria, trying to bring his men to safety. Prefazione Eroina, madre e sposa ripercorre le vicende della sua famiglia attraverso tre generazioni, accoglie la loro eredità in una dura lotta per sopravvivere tra l'epoca contadina al tramonto e una Milano operaia in cui la guerra è percepita dagli apocalittici bombardamenti aerei e dalle sinistre sirene di allarme. Della guerra racconta l'ansia e l'orrore, affrontando con cuore dolente e coraggioso perdite e lutti, con la determinazione di costruire un futuro per lei e la piccola figlia, con la certezza del ritorno del mai dimenticato eroe, comandante Guido, impegnato con la sua pattuglia in una epica traversata del deserto del Sahara tra la Libia, la Tunisia e l'Algeria portando in salvo la vita dei suoi uomini.

Study abroad (SA) as a domain of inquiry in the field of Applied Linguistics has been approached from a variety of different perspectives. Although originally focused on measuring the impact of residence abroad on students' language development, in the last decade the so-called 'social' turn in Second Language Acquisition has brought to the fore the importance of socio-cultural aspects of the students' experiences (such as the amount of contact they have with the local community, their social networks, etc.). This focus on the students' entire lived experiences in the destination country opened the door to an increased interest in analysing their language encounters in terms of intercultural learning. This new domain of investigation in SA research, focused on the students' opportunities for intercultural development while abroad, is varied in terms of perspectives and discourses, as it catalyses the different interests and viewpoints of the various stakeholders, including educational institutions, international political organisations, teachers or the students themselves. This book gathers some of these voices, with contributions on topics such as the features, dynamics, advantages and shortcomings, preparation needs and pedagogical issues relating to student mobility in terms of the participants' intercultural learning. This book was originally published as a special issue of Language and Intercultural Communication.

This book provides a broad overview of the main features of Spanish Milan and their transformations during the 16th and 17th centuries. At the same time, it addresses an important and long-lasting historiographical debate that traditionally interpreted the Spanish period as one of decline for Italian cities in general and Milan in particular.

Le piante sono influenzate dagli astri al momento della loro germinazione, durante la crescita, allora perché non anche l'uomo? Come alcune piante stanno bene insieme, per meccanismi di interazione ormonale a livello delle radici, ed altre si evitano, così anche i segni zodiacali cinesi possono avere rapporti diversi tra loro, rapporti che comunque possono, con un po' di impegno, sempre migliorare. E' proprio di queste interazioni che si occupa Patricia Müller nel presente testo... dott.ssa Chiara Scozzari Chi tratta politicamente e commercialmente con la sfera culturale cinese, potrebbe trarre beneficio da una più approfondita comprensione di come le persone, in estremo Oriente, concepiscono se stesse e gli altri attraverso l'oroscopo. dott.ssa Margot Jean Wylie Nella storia della medicina, sia in Oriente che Occidente, l'astrologia in passato ha guidato l'individuazione delle malattie secondo il tipo astrologico della persona. Una ricerca piena di interessanti indizi e di intuizioni valide ancora oggi. dott.ssa Marta Checchi I monaci del monastero Shaolin in Cina sono famosi da centinaia di anni per la loro imbattibile abilità nel combattimento, infatti da loro deriva il nome del Kung-Fu Shaolin, considerato il progenitore di tutte le arti marziali tradizionali cinesi. Lo Shaolin però non è solo una pratica corporea, ma è uno speciale modello di vita e di comportamento che si regge su principi specifici, applicabili in qualsiasi contesto, professionale o personale. I risultati sono straordinari. Infatti, il segreto dei monaci Shaolin non sta tanto nella loro forza fisica, quanto piuttosto nel modo di pensare e nel controllo che esercitano sulla loro mente: è questo che li rende invincibili. Bernhard Moestl, dopo aver condiviso la vita e il sapere dei monaci trascorrendo qualche anno nel monastero Shaolin, restituisce in questo libro i loro insegnamenti, spiegandoli e applicandoli alle nostre abitudini e relazioni quotidiane. Il lettore potrà così trarre ispirazione e aiuto da una sapienza millenaria, eppure ancora così attuale, e potrà allenare quella forza mentale che rende i monaci capaci di cose straordinarie e può rendere noi in grado di vincere le sfide che ogni giorno ci troviamo di fronte. Dai commenti di Amazon.de: "Un libro commovente! è un libro intenso, mi ha aiutato a riflettere sul mio cambiamento di vita e soprattutto su ciò che conta nella vita. Ho apprezzato in particolare i tanti esercizi che ti portano a considerare la tua esperienza." "Chi non vuole restare calmo nelle situazioni difficili o agire in modo sovrano? Bernhard Moestl sa trasmettere tutto ciò in modo eccezionale al lettore, se quest'ultimo è pronto a lavorare su se stesso."

Archeologia dei relitti postmedievali / Archaeology of Post-Medieval Shipwrecks, a cura di Carlo Beltrame Il volume, che raccoglie undici contributi di archeologi marittimi di molti paesi, ha l'obiettivo di accendere i riflettori sulle enormi potenzialità dei relitti di età storica, mettendo a confronto, da un lato, approcci diversi (di ambito mediterraneo ma anche statunitense, australiano e nord europeo), dall'altro, contesti archeologici con caratteristiche altrettanto diverse per l'ambiente di giacitura e per l'impiego civile o militare dell'imbarcazione. Gli studi, diacronici ma incentrati sul Cinquecento e sull'Ottocento, coprono le varie sfaccettature dell'indagine storica dei relitti di età postmedievale quali la costruzione navale, il commercio e la vita di bordo, ma anche aspetti di tipo squisitamente metodologico quali l'archeologia sperimentale navale. Si tratta di una novità assoluta per l'editoria scientifica italiana in cui questo particolare, ma molto promettente, ambito della ricerca archeologica non aveva ancora trovato adeguato spazio.

[Italiano]: Il presente lavoro costituisce una biografia intellettuale di Jacques-André Naigeon (1735-1810), importante figura del secolo dei Lumi francese. Biografo e primo editore di Diderot, Naigeon fu testimone privilegiato delle innumerevoli vicende politiche, sociali e culturali che sconvolsero la società francese. Ateo convinto, editore infaticabile, fine conoscitore della letteratura clandestina, il giovane Naigeon fece in tempo a collaborare agli ultimi volumi dell'Encyclopédie e a partecipare, con il barone d'Holbach, alla propagazione di numerosi scritti eterodossi, materialisti e ferocemente anti-clericali; dopo la Rivoluzione – la quale lo spinse alla riflessione ma non ad un'attività politica propriamente detta – fu integrato dalla cultura "ufficiale" tramite l'elezione presso l'Institut de France: ma nonostante alcuni lavori editoriali di grande pregio, Naigeon resterà esclusivamente la testimonianza vivente di una stagione culturale ormai irripetibile ./[English]: This work aims at being an intellectual biography of Jacques-André Naigeon (1735-1810), an important figure of French Enlightenment. Not only was he very close to Diderot - of whom he was biographer and editor - but he was also a privileged witness of the countless political, social and cultural events that led to the French Revolution. Besides being a convinced atheist, a tireless publisher, a fine connoisseur of Clandestine literature, Naigeon had the opportunity to collaborate in writing the last volumes of the Encyclopédie and to participate in the propagation of heterodox, materialistic and fiercely anti-clerical writings. After the Revolution - at the beginning of which he tried in vain to make himself heard by the Assemblée Nationale - he was then integrated into the "official" culture through the election at the Institut de France: however, even if he is the author of some prestigious works, Naigeon remains exclusively the living testimony of a now unrepeatable cultural season.

A pioneering inquiry on the role, perception and representation of emotional sphere in traditional Chinese culture provides a fascinating contribution on a key anthropological problem, in order to understand not only pre-modern private history, but also contemporary Chinese society. The importance of this work goes beyond Chinese studies. In current academic debates, leisure is increasingly defined as a discursive construction originating both from the specific meanings created by individuals, and the institutionalizing processes that legitimate certain experiences and their spatial-temporal conditions as "leisure". As a result of social construction and the different social conditions existing at a certain historical moment in different societies, the borders among the various aspects of leisure are becoming more and more blurred; as is the case, for instance, with the borders between leisure and work activities. Such border-crossing is the leitmotif of this book. Although focusing on sociological research, it has in fact a multidisciplinary scope and will appeal to a variety of scholars and students interested in the study of leisure in contemporary society as a fundamental dimension of everyday sociality and sociability with very important effects on social cohesion as a whole. After an introductory section, offering general frames on key definitions of leisure and leisure issues, five other sections follow which concentrate on more specific aspects of leisure practices and forms in contemporary society.

In spite of their differing rhetorics and cognitive strategies, sociology and literature are often concerned with the same objects: social relationships, action, motivation, social constraints and relationships, for example. As such, sociologists have always been fascinated with fictional literature. This book reinvigorates the debate surrounding the utility of fiction as a sociological resource, examining the distinction between the two forms of writing and exploring the views of early sociologists on the suitability of subjecting literary sources to sociological analysis. Engaging with contemporary debates in this field, the author explores the potential sociological use of literary fiction, considering the role of literature as the exemplification of sociological concepts, a non-technical confirmation of theoretical insights, and a form of empirical material used to confirm a set of theoretically oriented assumptions. A fascinating exploration of the means by which the sociological eye can be sharpened by engagement with literary sources, Fiction and Social Reality offers a set of methodological principles according to which literature can be examined sociologically. As such, it will appeal to scholars of sociology and literary studies with interests in research methods and interdisciplinary approaches to scholarly research.

An impressive new history of China's relations with the West—told through the lives of two language interpreters who participated in the famed Macartney embassy in 1793 The 1793 British embassy to China, which led to Lord George Macartney's fraught encounter with the Qianlong emperor, has often been viewed as a clash of cultures fueled by the East's disinterest in the West. In The Perils of Interpreting, Henrietta Harrison presents a more nuanced picture, ingeniously shifting the historical lens to focus on Macartney's two interpreters at that meeting—Li Zibiao and George Thomas Staunton. Who were these two men? How did they intervene in the exchanges that they mediated? And what did these exchanges mean for them? From Galway to Chengde, and from political intrigues to personal encounters, Harrison reassesses a pivotal moment in relations between China and Britain. She shows that there were Chinese who were familiar with the West, but growing tensions endangered those who embraced both cultures and would eventually culminate in the Opium Wars. Harrison demonstrates that the Qing court's ignorance about the British did not simply happen, but was manufactured through the repression of cultural go-betweens like Li and Staunton. She traces Li's influence as Macartney's interpreter, the pressures Li faced in China as a result, and his later years in hiding. Staunton interpreted successfully for the British East India Company in Canton, but as Chinese anger grew against British imperial expansion in South Asia, he was compelled to flee to England. Harrison contends that in silencing expert voices, the Qing court missed an opportunity to gain insights that might have prevented a losing conflict with Britain. Uncovering the lives of two overlooked figures, The Perils of Interpreting offers an empathic argument for cross-cultural understanding in a connected world.

The second volume of the New Horizon Series, this book offers an overview of a wide range of contemporary issues in education and society, including narrative explorations, various models of education and learning, study techniques, leadership, experiential learning, emotions, personal development, recreational activities, emerging technologies, and the media, among others. All the topics discussed here currently subject to research and debate, but have been prevalent throughout history, impacting on different fields, including education, communication, and health. As such, it is vital to understand these topics in order to live in a society in which one must interact with other people and regulate one's emotions. All the contributors to this volume investigate how these issues affect society in general, reflecting on the causes of the functioning of the world. All chapters here provide a full and clear frame of reference for the problems, issues and disciplines discussed here, offering professional and experienced insights from a range of disciplines including education, history, psychology, literature and pedagogy. As such, this book represents a highly useful and contemporary manual for both students and the general public with an interest in the social sciences.

Many requests have been made for the publication of these studies in book form. Much of this material has already appeared as articles in The Way. In the first section I discuss the distinction between the forms of consecrated life, following a classification which is also taken up by the Second Vatican Council in its decree Perfectae Caritatis. It is by distinguishing between these different ways of the Spirit, and by seeking to enter more deeply into them, that all who lead that life - whether they be monks or nuns, or religious dedicated to the apostolate of the priestly ministry or of charitable works, or those leading a consecrated life in the midst of the world - will gain a better understanding of their vocation and of their special mission in the Church. The second study is an attempt to express the profound meaning of the secular vocation proper to those institutes which were approved by Pope Pius XII in 1947, and of which the Motu Proprio Primo Feliciter laid down the essential characteristics. The third section is a discussion of the role of the priest in approved Secular Institutes. This has relevance today, when special questions arise concerning those Institutes whose secular character is less apparent, who live in community and are occupied in their own special works. In the opinion of many who follow the fully secular vocation, those Institutes would do better to revise their statutes or to choose another denomination - for example, that of Apostolic Institute or Society.

Smart Factory oder Industrie 4.0 und Digitalisierung sind Entwicklungen, die weit in die Arbeitswelt und Gesellschaft eingreifen und deren Folgen noch relativ unklar sind. Der Blick in vier wirtschaftsstarke Regionen in den europäischen Ländern (Deutschland, Italien, Schweden, Spanien) zeigt, dass sich die technisch-ökonomischen Entwicklung sowie die Erwartungen je unterschiedlich darstellen. Der Band gliedert sich in vier Teile. Der erste Teil beschäftigt sich mit dem Ausmaß und den Folgen der Digitalisierung. Gegenstände des zweiten und dritten Teils sind Berichte und Ergebnisse aus den Ländern bzw. Regionen. Diese basieren auf Expertengesprächen und einer Delphi-Online-Befragung in drei Wellen, in dessen Rahmen Szenarien entwickelt und abgefragt wurden. Aufbauend darauf nimmt der vierte Teil die Handlungsmöglichkeiten im Betrieb und der Politik in den Blick. Die Beiträge sind in deutscher oder englischer Sprache verfasst und mit Zusammenfassungen in Deutsch, Englisch, Italienisch und Spanisch ergänzt. Mit Beiträgen von Krister Andersson, Prof. Dr. Daniel Buhr, Dagmar Bürkardt, Sonia Cattaneo, Massimo Darchini, Laura Diéguez Ferrer, Bernd Dworschak, Dr. Miriam Ferrari, Dan Gabrielsson, Daniel Garrell Ballester, Karl-Ulrich Gscheidle, Anneke Ilsemann, Kent Kling, Dr. Harald Kohler, Norbert Kreuzkamp, Martin Kunzmann, Luis Lageder, Dr. Luca Lombi, Dr. Erika Mezger, Dr. Raphael Menez, Prof. Dr. Josef Schmid, Welf Schröter, Heinrich Tiemann.
