This introduction to circuit design is unusual in several respects. First, it offers not just explanations, but a full course. Each of the twenty-five sessions begins with a discussion of a particular sort of circuit followed by the chance to try it out and see how it actually behaves.

Accordingly, students understand the circuit's operation in a way that is deeper and much more satisfying than the manipulation of formulas. Second, it describes circuits that more traditional engineering introductions would postpone: on the third day, we build a radio receiver; on the fifth day, we build an operational amplifier from an array of transistors. The digital half of the course centers on applying microcontrollers, but gives exposure to Verilog, a powerful Hardware Description Language. Third, it proceeds at a rapid pace but requires no prior knowledge of electronics. Students gain intuitive understanding through immersion in good circuit design.

Who makes it? Parkes conducts an inspiring tour of sheep breeds from around the world - introducing us to the animals who give us their wool - and explains how to best knit with yarns made from their fibers. Parkes went to some of the most creative and inquisitive design minds of the knitting world to provide more than 20 patterns that highlight the qualities of specific types of wool. The next time you pick up a skein, you won't have to wonder what to create with it. You'll just know.

"This book by Carson, Marion, and Overdurf is an excellent exploration of the extraordinary trance process of deep trance identification. It is thorough, practical, and clear thereby providing an excellent guide for those seeking far-reaching transformational change. I highly recommend it" Stephen Gilligan Ph.D Generative Trance. Deep Trance Identification (DTI) has captivated the imagination of hypnotists since the mid 20th century. DTI has been used by countless modelers to master hypnosis skills, musical and acting abilities, emotional transformation, and so much more. Historically very little is written about DTI despite it being at the heart of all unconscious learning and transformation. For the first time DTI is presented here in a practical and easily understandable way. Shawn Carson, Jess Marion, and John Overdurf have dedicated years to studying and using DTI and in this book they share their discoveries. They present the art and neuroscience of this hypnotic phenomenon and explain how you can use this modality to change your life and the lives of your clients. Deep Trance Identification presents an elegant model for using DTI and outlines comprehensive techniques that make the DTI experience deeply transformative.

Much of the writing on charisma focuses on specific traits associated with exceptional leaders, a practice that has broadened the concept of charisma to such an extent that it loses its distinctiveness – and therefore its utility. More particularly, the concept's relevance to the study of social movements has not moved beyond generalizations. The contributors to this volume renew the debate on charismatic leadership from a historical perspective and seek to illuminate the concept's relevance to the study of social movements. The case studies here include such leaders as Mahatma Gandhi; the architect of apartheid, Daniel F. Malan; the heroine of the Spanish Civil War, Dolores Ibarruri (la pasionaria); and Mao Zedong. These charismatic leaders were not just professional politicians or administrators, but sustained a strong symbiotic relationship with their followers, one that stimulated devotion to the leader and created a real group identity.
