Ryan Graham is your average nineteen-year-old student struggling to make grades at Ohio State University. One morning he oversleeps, only to discover that the world as he knows it is over. He also describes many marathon locations and events where he participated in races but did not murder anyone. Each murder is unique, and a wide variety of murder techniques are utilized to confuse the police and the FBI. A romantic relationship develops between the killer and Susan Harvey, the FBI agent assigned to solve the marathon murders case. Their ongoing affair adds complexity to the story and to the murder methodology. Michael slowly reveals himself to Agent Harvey as she gets closer to having the evidence she needs to arrest him. The story ends with a series of events that are both exciting and unexpected.

In L.J.'s Cocoon, Lynard Joiner Sr. reveals his life experience which is likened to the birth stages of a butterfly. Just as a butterfly struggles to free itself from its cocoon, so have Lynard Joiner struggled to free himself from the world and environment that he existed in for so long. He grew up in a very large and poor family in the 60's and 70's in Mississippi, which was a very racist state at that time. Joiner also explains how he detoured off of the right track in life after seeing several of his family members make thousands of dollars a day selling drugs, while he worked a nine to five job and only made two hundred dollars every two weeks. Most of all, Joiner reveals how his choice to sell drugs landed him in federal prison, robbing his children of a father in the most critical stages of their lives. On a positive note, through Joiner's prison experience, he fulfilled his childhood dream by becoming a professional cook. Therefore, he encourages individuals to never give up on their dreams, visions, or plans no matter how one struggle, detour, or stagger along life journey, because one has the power to overcome any obstacle that stands in their way of achieving his/her dreams, purpose, and plans in life.

Uniting would end the many distractions of war and partisan politics, which would enable humans to expand in knowledge and do boundless things. A long-term goal of this organization is to join hands with people in creating a better world for the environment and the people on it. The organization hopes to unite the minds of people in order to push towards advancement in our society. When people unite, they celebrate their differences, and by default, this eliminates the need for war and aggression. Instead, people are driven by a common goal for a better world, and the "I is replaced with the We". The ultimate purpose of this project is to highlight the infinite possibilities that can occur when people come together - whether it simply spreads awareness or leads to tangible change. By creating this initiative, we hope to reach people all over the world and to encourage them to develop an interest in fostering a greater society.

This small volume book is a collection of short stories involving real lives across continents and cultures. It addresses the general subject of most of them—finding and keeping love in our lives in the form of intimate relationships with lots of disappointments that is a commonplace experience across cultures and continent. A significance of the story of handing over a fake diamond that directly means a fake love. This most extraordinary book explores the quest for relationship across culture and the disappointments and shock or hurts that people encounter as they try to find an everlasting relationship and love as people define the marriage and love they want or desire. This is an exhilarating piece of writing that shows that a real relationship of marriage requires matching based on values. This is a significant shift from the romantic idea that is so dominant in our culture but unsustainable in real life. To rely exclusively on romance does not fulfill all one's needs; it leads you to fall into unconsciousness. There are other aspects of affection worth cultivating—devotion, friendship, commitment, trust, reliability, unselfishness, support, lack of greed. Love is something that all cultures need and want. When they get it, it's totally outside their control when they get what they feel they desire. In our narcissistic culture of surfaces a vast majority of men tend to feel or believe that the world revolves around them and that they are the center of attraction at least in this modern world in some cultures men are nurtured to be promiscuous, and it is tolerated.

What do you mean when you say you've got a 'personal relationship with God '? Have you thought through the implications of that statement? We've heard it repeated so often that for many of us it has become just another Christian buzz phrase. But stop and think ... A personal relationship ... with GOD? Really? Personal how? How personal is it for you? Can a finite human being really have a personal relationship with a Being who stands outside the universe and inside the atom, who covers the earth with living things, and touches the human heart with life? Is this just a pious fiction, or can we really know and be known by this God, personally?
