Living, Dying, Death, and Bereavement (Volume Two) David E. Balk, 2020-10-21 This two-volume book offers extensive interviews with persons who have made significant contributions to thanatology, the study of dying, death, loss, and grief. The book's in-depth conversations provide compelling life stories of interest to clinicians, researchers, and educated lay persons, and to specialists interested in oral history as a means of gaining rich understandings of persons' lives. Several disciplines that contribute to thanatology are represented in this book, such as psychology, religious studies, art, literature, history, social work, nursing, theology, education, psychiatry, sociology, philosophy, and anthropology. The book is unique; no other text offers such a comprehensive, insightful, and personal review of work in the thanatology field. The salience of thanatology is obvious when we consider several topics, including the aging demographics of most countries, the leading causes of death, the devastation of COVID-19, the realities of how most persons die, the growth both of hospice and of efforts within medicine to ensure that a good death becomes the norm of medical practice, and increases in the number of countries and states permitting physician-assisted suicide. This second volume includes conversations with 16 thanatologists, a rich, extensive bibliography, an index of names and subjects, and a biographical sketch of the author. The experts interviewed in this volume include Danai Papadatou, Holly Prigerson, Jack Jordan, Illene Cupit, Heather Servaty-Seib, Irwin Sandler, Simon Shimshon Rubin, Carla Sofka, Harold Ivan Smith, and Phyllis Kosminsky.

Recrafting a Life Charles Johnson, Denise Webster, 2013-05-13 Chronic illness and pain are now, more than ever, seen as major problems in the current health care system. Because they are unresponsive to both antibiotics and surgery, they are seen as elusive and mysterious. The National Medical Expenditure Survey estimates that over 80 million U.S. citizens live with a chronic illness. The most prevalent are arthritis, diabetes, respiratory diseases, hypertension and mental illness. This book uses the novel Robinson Crusoe as an archetypal metaphor for the patients who must learn to survive on their own isolated island of chronic pain. This unique style is combined with a variety of in-session approaches and other tools which clients have found helpful in identifying their goals and progress. By emphasizing the importance of self-care the authors hope to diminish the sense of helplessness felt by both the patients and their loved ones.

Observing Theatre Daniel Meyer-Dinkgräfe, 2013-12-01 Daniel Meyer-Dinkgräfe and co-authors take the exploration of the subjective dimension of theatre, its spiritual context, its relation to consciousness and natural law, further than ever before, thanks to the context provided by the thinking of German geobiologist Hans Binder. We present relevant aspects of Binder's approach as precisely as possible, then take Binder's approach for granted to tease out the implications of that approach to the issues of theatre, including nostalgia, intercultural theatre, theatre criticism, dealing with demanding roles, the canon, theatre and philosophy, digital performance, practice as research, and applied theatre. Overall, the book proposes an overarching emphasis on the importance of living in the present and the concomitant need to abandon obsolete but still powerful patterns of the past. In this context, theatre, according to Binder, has a global responsibility for the new world in which humans are liberated from the scourge of the past. Theatre has the power and thus the responsibility to be path-breaking for a new “fiction”, to show to people, in a playful and creative manner, the direction in which the new consciousness can move. Daniel Meyer-Dinkgräfe is Professor of Drama at the Lincoln School of Performing Arts, University of Lincoln. He has numerous publications on the topic of ‘Theatre and Consciousness’ to his credit, and is founding editor of the peer-reviewed web-journal Consciousness, Literature and the Arts and the book series of the same title with Rodopi.

Milton H. Erickson, M.D. Betty Alice Erickson, Bradford P. Keeney, 2006 Edited by Betty Alice Erickson and Bradford Keeney. Milton H Erickson is one of the most studied people in the field of hypnosis and psychotherapy. Hundreds of thousands of words have been written analyzing his therapeutic methods and words with miles and miles of film, audio and video tapes. In Milton H Erickson MD: An American Healer read about the man Milton H Erickson, rather than his psychotherapeutic techniques. Told from the perspective of three of his children, this book uniquely explores the personal side of this world famous psychiatrist. It is a remarkable spiritual journey. As a part of his life-long struggle to overcome the physical effects of polio, Erickson acquired prodigious observational and interactional skills, as well as a powerfully calm healing presence. With photographs, stories and a DVD of one of his clinical sessions, this book brings to light the quiet spirituality of an extraordinary healer.

User-friendly features include checklists, sample questions to aid in relationship building and goal setting, and reproducible forms that can be downloaded and printed in a convenient 8 1/2 x 11 size. Therapeutic Trances Stephen Gilligan, 2018-09-03 Therapeutic Trances is a manifesto of the fundamental principles and techniques of Ericksonian hypnotherapy. This innovative volume lays out the principles and practice of developing relationships with patients and creating a hypnotic environment in which true healing can take place. The book offers therapists specific questions to ask and practical ideas to pursue, thereby illustrating how therapists may cooperate with clients to translate problems into solutions. Stephen Gilligan synthesizes the approaches of Erickson, Bandler & Grinder, and Bateson to bring a new perspective to the field.

Hipnoza in psihoterapie Irina Holdevici, 2017-04-18 Procesul hipnotic este unul complex și variază ca trăiri, care de-a lungul timpului și-a dovedit eficiența în psihoterapie. Volumul de față pornește de la ideea că hipnoza reprezintă o metodă adjuvantă cu caracter dinamic în contextul terapeutic. Caracteristicile legate de identificarea unui anumit nivel de sugestibilitate, alături de manifestările trăite în stare de transă vor avea ecou diferit, în funcție de fiecare client, cât și de situația pe care acesta o aduce în cadrul terapeutic. Volumul Hipnoza în psihoterapie contribuie la literatura de specialitate cu rezultate ale unora dintre ultimele cercetări în domeniu, prezintă modele inedite de scenarii de inducție hipnotică și de adâncire a transei, precum și studii de caz elocvente pentru o serie de tulburări și de conjuncturi întâlnite în cabinet. Este structurat într-o parte teoretică și o parte practică, având numeroase exemple ce atestă aplicabilitatea hipnozei în multiple afecțiuni. Ca noutate, lucrarea de față abordează hipnoza în situații precum nașterea, infertilitatea, dependențele, stima de sine scăzută, afecțiuni oncologice, tulburări de stres posttraumatic și nu numai. Volumul se adresează în primul rând specialiștilor și apoi publicului larg, cu intenția de a-l familiariza cu acest instrument de lucru activ în psihoterapie, care a fost și rămâne hipnoza. Irina Holdevici este profesor universitar la Universitatea Titu Maiorescu din București, psihoterapeut și formator în domeniul psihoterapiei cognitiv-comportamentale și hipnozei clinice, psiholog clinician și psihoterapeut la clinica Eurosanity. A publicat peste 120 de studii și 30 de cărți de specialitate. În 2008 a fost distinsă cu premiul Academiei Române „Constantin Rădulescu Motru, pentru lucrarea Consiliere și psihoterapie în situații de criză. Достижение целей Мэрилин Аткинсон, Рае Т. Чойс, 2012-01-01

Цель коучинга состоит в том, чтобы помочь человеку раскрыть его внутренний потенциал, определить свои главные ценности и видение цели в жизни. Трансформация происходит тогда, когда людям задают открытые вопросы вместо того, чтобы говорить им, что делать. Мэрилин Аткинсон — создатель собственной системы коучинга, основанного на поиске решения, — рассказывает о том, как создать взаимопонимание и правильный настрой во время беседы, как освоить навыки слушания, как задавать открытые вопросы и правильно интерпретировать реакцию собеседника, как овладеть искусством концентрации.

In der Erickson'schen Therapie findet der Diagnoseprozess möglichst schnell statt, mit dem Ziel, bereits während der ersten Sitzung eine therapeutische Intervention zu formulieren. Das Gerüst der Diagnose muss daher innerhalb weniger Minuten stehen und wird in den anschließenden Sitzungen vervollständigt, modifiziert oder verifiziert. Der Therapeut muss also bereits aktiv werden, bevor die Diagnose komplett ist. Die Reaktion des Klienten auf die Intervention liefert dann Informationen für die weiteren Schritte. Kris Klajs beschreibt die fünf zentralen Bereiche in diesem Prozess: Diagnosekategorien, Trancephänomene, Systemreflexion, Ressourcen und Motivation. Im Zentrum stehen zum einen Methoden zum Kennenlernen und Verstehen des Klienten. Der zweite Aspekt liegt auf dem Therapeuten und seiner Wahrnehmung der eigenen Arbeit: Wo werden Schwerpunkte gesetzt, welche Bedeutung wird dem zugeschrieben, was man sieht, hört und fühlt? Beispiele aus der therapeutischen Praxis illustrieren, wie es gelingen kann, therapeutische Veränderungen herbeizuführen und einen Weg einzuschlagen, der zu Gesundheit, Wachstum und Entwicklung führt.
